312/Mr. Heim

Case - Timothy N. Pfeiffer,
Subject - Homicide, New Brunswick, N.J.,
Operative - 312.

Hotel, at New Brunswick, N.J.,

Operative upon leaving the reporters at the Walker Hotel, proceeded to and entered the Middlesex Lunchroom. While in the Middlesex Lunchroom, Operative overheard several men discussing the Hall-Mills Case, and Operative heard an elderly man about 5 feet, 9 inches in height, with snow-white hair, remark, "Well, it would suit the Officials of New Brunswick better if they dropped Mrs. Hall out of the Case and got busy and cleaned up the Town, and maybe by doing that somebody would squeal and the thing would come out. There is a good many people of this Town who know a lot about Phillips' Farm and have been up there so often for no-good purpose, that they could go there with their eyes shut, but the Officials don't want to do anything about it because they don't want to get mixed-up in it."

The above mentioned elderly man then went on to say that Levine is not the Caretaker of the old house, and that the sign which is put there with his name on, is all a fake. "The reason why Mott took the Case over was because the New Brunswick Officials passed it over so in case there was anything coming out of it, there would be no come-back on them."

Upon conclusion of the above referred to remarks, Operative left the Middlesex Lunchroom, and proceeded to the Pool-Room at #425 George St., New Brunswick, N.J.

After remaining about the Pool-Room for a short time, and being unable to gain any further information, Operative proceeded to the railroad station and there joined Mr. DeM.

Operative related to Mr. DeM. the above mentioned circumstances, in detail, and then Operative discontinued.
